

Globe Forum 2007 hosted by SEB with top international speakers 2007-04-16

Globe Forum, the three day conference sponsored by SEB with focus on global leading growth markets, Eastern Europe, India and China, is held 18-20 April in Stockholm. Speakers from SEB include Annika Falkengren, CEO and President, Klas Eklund, SEB's chief economist, Carl Christensson, head of SEB in Shanghai, and Mats Kjaer, head of SEB's New Markets (Ukraine and Russia).

Globe Forum 2007 attracts the participation of hundreds of international company leaders and politicians with interest of doing business in Eastern Europe, China and India. This year's event features a series of speeches, panel discussions and workshops involving business and political leaders with deep insight into these markets.

Maud Olofsson, Minister of Enterprise and Energy, Deputy Prime Minister of Sweden; Viktor Vladimirovich Gerashchenko, Chairman of the Board, YUKOS; and R. Gopalakrishnan, Executive Director, Tata & Sons, are some of the top international speakers.

Among the series of workshops, Ivan Korjakin, Head of SEB in Ukraine, and Monica Jemielity, Business Manager, SEB in Poland, will lead a workshop on "Best practice in Corporate Establishment and Expansion in Poland and Ukraine". Fredrik Hähnel, Senior Vice President, SEB Shanghai will hold a workshop on "Best practice in Corporate Establishment and Expansion in China". Also Håkan Aldrin, Head of Corporate Banking, SEB Shanghai, will lead a workshop on "Overview of corporate financial solutions in China".

The event is held 18-20 April at Berns Salonger and China Theatre in Stockholm. For additional information on the event, please contact Johan Gorecki, Globe Forum, tel. +46 704 82 82 82 or visit: www.globeforum.com.

➤ CEO Annika Falkengren's Opening Speech

⏪ Back